STANZAS TO "JULIA."

Oh, gentle "Julia," lady mine,
 Look kindly on thy true love's sorrow;
 Give me this morning but a sign
 And trill thy silver notes to-morrow.

It is unjust that thou shouldst scoff,
 Since thou alone hast caused my dolor;
 For thee I've pulled my "Jacket" off,
 For thee I've laid aside my "Chollar."

I let my "Golden Chariot" roam,
 To "Julia" gave its price to deck her;
 I sold my old "Kentucky" home,
 And quite depleted my "Exchequer."

I turned my back on "Northern Belle"
 And jilted lovely "Lady Bryan";
 My "Ida Elmore" shunned as well,
 And fled from "Leopard" like a lion.

Besides thy love, I held my rank
 As something less than immaterial,
 And heedless if my "Empire" sank,
 I left for thee my throne "Imperial."

Toward "Mexican" my love had grown—
 I flung away the sweet communion;
 But oh! I blush, for I must own
 I turned my back upon the "Union."

So, "Julia," think what I have lost—
 In this wild wish I have to own you—
 And if for you my love is crost
 You'll force me back to "Caledonia."

Or on the summit of the "Alps"
 I'll pine upon some snowy highland,
 Or hunt with "savage" after scalps,
 Or die upon some lone "Rock Island."

I cannot linger in this land;
 I've spent my substance to adorn you,
 And bartered, all to win your hand,
 My heritage in "California."

But if you say that we must part—
 Ah! what a cruel word that must be—
 In owning you had all my heart,
 You'll do me nothing more than "Justice."

Oh, "Julia," be my "Morning Star;"
 To all who'd question our alliance,
 Or "challenge" you, save as you are,
 I'll sing the gauntlet of "Defiance."

For I "Advance" a "Pioneer,"
 A "Poorman" with a "Pauper" "Prospect."
 Yet still to me you are as dear
 As when you were a smiling aspect.

I still have "Confidence" in you
 I know your lapse is "Accidental"—
 When they build statues to the true
 Our sweet mine shall be "Monumental."

Adieu sweet mine, in regions far,
 Where "Amazon" flows past the "Andes"
 On "Baltic" shores, "neath the "North
 Star"

Or where "New York" compounds her candies.

Or where upon the Emerald Isle
 "St. Patrick" rules "Europa's" ocean,
 I still will bask beneath thy smile
 Still pay to "Julia" my devotion.

A Jewish Rabbi in a Christian Church.

The venerable Dr. Lillenthal, of Cincinnati, being in San Francisco was invited by Dr. Rexford of the first Universalist Church to preach in his pulpit, and did so on the evening of April 28th. The Rev. Dr. Lillenthal is 72 years of age and has been for the last twenty years laboring to reform the Jewish Church and make it conform to the altered condition of the world since the time Moses promulgated rules for its government. He proved himself a true reformer by the utterance of such sentiments as these:

"Love thy God and love thy neighbor." Let us then all unite on the broad platform of truth and love, and do away with prejudice, and America will set a bright example to the world. When travelling through all the large cities of Europe, he saw the crowned heads and decorations of Orders, and said this was not by the grace of God; but on his return he entered Independence Hall, in Philadelphia, he said this was a sanctuary by the grace of God, the character of human Liberty and Equality. When Washington was spoken to relative to engraving God in the Constitution, he said, "No, let the Testament alone; it has nothing to do with the Constitution. Let this doctrine be perpetuated; preserve religious liberty; let there be no union between Church and State, but let each work in its own sphere. Let them preserve and watch over the common schools. The public schools of America are the arsenals of liberty. We want no sectarian schools, but let our children grow up as Americans, imbued with sentiments of patriotism and toleration. In this Centennial year let all renew their allegiance; let all stand firm in the doctrines of freedom and human rights; never surrender the principles handed down by the Father of our country. We are all the children of one God, only differing in forms and ceremonies; and if we are true and remain firm to these principles it will truly be a year of glory, and the Kingdom of Heaven will be established on earth to the blessing of the human race."

Lieutenant Bache, Fifth Cavalry, formerly of Arizona, has "found peace," at last, not in a Moody and Sankey sense, perhaps, but Anna Peace in Philadelphia, and married her. When she begins to give him a piece of her mind he may be constrained to "very peace, peace, when there is no peace." But as the Lieutenant has led a stormy life on this wild frontier, let us hope that like Noah's dove in returning to the ark after many wanderings, he may rest in the arms of peace ever more, and while his calling devolves upon him the duty of commanding may he never be obliged to employ the scripture language, "Peace, be still."

Cockadoodle.—The attention of the department commander is called by the Arizona Citizen to the fact that the "leading newspaper of the Territory" was not furnished with a list of awards of contracts by the Chief Commissary in February. This is a case that calls for investigation by Cleymer's committee. Colonel Wilkins ought to be impeached, court martialled and sent to the Dry Tortugas.

Col. Ike Jennings and wife, at St. Thomas, sent their regards to all of "us boys" from Idaho, by W. W. Hutchison, who reports them happy and on the high road to fortune.

LETTER FROM COL. HODGE.

YUMA, A. T., May 3, 1876.

EDITOR MINER:—Since my arrival here, I have seen and examined the town and country around, have been down to the south of the river 175 miles and back, attended the May-Day school picnic, visited Fort Yuma, taken a thorough look at the Territorial Prison, and to-day was present at the most exciting horse-race which has ever come off perhaps in Arizona, and now take my pen to give your readers some items which I hope will be of interest.

Yuma has improved somewhat since I was here some 18 months since, and has now a population of about 1,500, eight stores, of which two are wholesale, eight saloons, four bakeries, three meat-markets, a harness-shop, livery and feed stable, milliner, news depot, drug store, restaurant, and one good hotel kept by G. W. Blair, one newspaper, owned and edited by Judge Berry. A large business is done by the merchants, especially by the wholesale dealers, Col. J. M. Barney, successor to the old house of Wm. B. Hooper & Co., and by David Neahr, Esq. The public school, under the charge of Mr. and Miss Post, is a decided success.

A May-Day picnic excursion was given the pupils, on the 1st instant, which was attended by over 300 persons old and young, of whom at least 175 were children, and over 100 pupils of the public school. Everything went off nicely, and the receipts for trinkets sold to adults was over $350, which goes into the School Fund.

The trip down the river to the ship-yard of the C. S. N. Co. at the head of the Gulf, was very interesting, the broad, level and rich bottom lands stretching out on either hand, gave promise of large production of rice, cotton, tobacco, sugar cane, hemp, grain, fruit and vegetables, in the future, when brought under cultivation by intelligent white labor. The river Co-ops occupy the bottom lands of the lower Colorado, and, like the Yumas and Mohaves, are a large, well-formed race, and quite industrious for Indians. They are self-supporting, raise corn, beans, pumpkins, melons, etc., and use large quantities of fish which are of good quality and very abundant. The Valley of the Colorado, both above and below Yuma, is capable of supporting a large population, as also the Valley of the Gila.

I went a few days since, by the invitation of Hon. J. M. Redondo, to examine his brother's farming ranch, of 800 acres, 10 miles east of Yuma, on the north side of the Gila, and was much interested with what I saw. The Redondo brothers commenced improving this ranch in 1872, and have now 60 acres of wheat, 500 of barley, 120 of wheat, barley and oats and alfalfa for hay, 20 of sugar-cane, vegetables and fruit. The wheat and barley is now nearly ripe and are both noble crops, and will average about 2,500 pounds to the acre. Vegetables grow to enormous size and excellent in quality, onions of three pounds each, and cabbage of 18 pounds each are common.

The Territorial Prison is being pushed forward with commendable energy by the Commissioners, David Neahr, I. Polhemus, Jr., and A. J. Finlay. Mr. Redondo was one of the original Commissioners, but was compelled on account of private business to resign, and Mr. Finlay was appointed in his stead. Mr. Neahr has the active superintendency of the building, and is well qualified for the place, being an excellent mechanic and engineer. No better man could have been selected for the place. Mr. Werringer, sheriff of Yuma county, is rendering material assistance.

There are now in the Yuma Co. jail, four prisoners, not one of which, Mr. Werringer informs me, is from Yuma county, which speaks well for the character of its people. He also informs me that there was not a criminal case on the docket the last term of the Court here.

Fort Yuma, a two-company Post, is opposite Yuma, on the California side of the river, but in the Department of Arizona, and under the control of the excellent Department Commander, General Kautz. Mayor H. R. Mitzner, an old friend of mine, who for many months past has been in command at Fort Yuma, left for California a few days since, on sick leave, the extreme hot climate proving too much for his constitution which is much impaired. Capt. J. L. Viven, of the 12th Infantry, is now in command.

This morning a very exciting horse race came off over the Yuma mile-track. Hon. J. M. Redondo entered his sorrel gelding "Dick," and Mr. Frank Welcome entered his grey gelding "Moro," for a purse of $400 a straight heat of two miles, catch weights. Over a thousand persons were present, and at least $3,000 changed hands. The race was run in 4m. 22s. by the sorrel horse, coming in over 100 feet ahead of the grey. The weather is very warm here now, and for one week the thermometer has run up to from 96° to 105°, in the shade, for several hours between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. The Colorado river has been rising very fast the past few days, and is now nearly 4 feet above the mark of last Saturday, the 29th ult.

Would like to have a little of your mountain ice for a lemonade, but must wait for a few weeks, when I hope to meet Prescott friends for a short time. Travel on the Kerens & Mitchell great overland stage line from San Diego via Yuma to Mesilla, New Mexico, is brisk and stages well filled.

In haste, yours,

H. C. Hodge.

Judicial Salaries and Court Expenses.

Congress appears to have a wrong idea both of the capacities and necessities of those who are appointed to administer justice as Judges of the Supreme and District courts in the Territories. They have lately been tinkering again at the salaries of Territorial Judges, which are already two or three thousand dollars below what they ought to be in order to secure respectable talent on the bench. Arizona has no special reason to complain of the capacity of those who have been sent to her as Judges, but like most other Territories her legislature has been called upon to increase the amount of their pay in order that they may live respectably as the Attorneys who practice in their Courts. The law of Congress providing for the establishment of courts and the appointment of Judges in the Territory of Arizona and perhaps in other Territories as well, only contemplates the holding of one court in each of the three districts, and fixes the salary at $3,000 per year; upon which a Judge with a family can live with rigid economy, provided he were permitted to stay in one place, but a subsequent act, authorizes the Territorial Legislature to provide for the holding of Territorial courts in other counties by the U. S. Judges, involving traveling and other expenses that cannot be met without the assistance of the Territorial Legislature, and yet as eminent a statesman as E. R. Hoar in a recent debate with delegate Canon, of Utah, said that a U. S. Judge who accepted of an addition to his salary from the Territorial Treasury ought to be impeached. No respectable lawyer, such as we require on the Supreme and District bench, and fortunately have at present in those positions, would think of engaging in private practice the gross proceeds of which would not amount to nearly twice the sum allowed by the United States to her Judges.

The fees of the United States District Attorney for Arizona are the same as those of the same officer in New York and other populous states where the amount of business makes the office profitable whereas here the limited business brings the compensation far below the actual expenses incurred by that officer in traveling from place to place to attend court. We understand the actual receipts of the office during the past year have been below $400.

The U. S. Marshal for the Territory is another poorly paid officer who must either starve, steal or make his living out of the proceeds arising from the marshalship. If any one doubts these facts and figures let him go to the record and examine for himself and he will be convinced that the U. S. Judiciary, and those attached to the U. S. side of the Courts in the Territories are the poorest paid of any class of our people considering the character of talent it requires to fill the positions, and yet Congress has been debating the propriety of cutting down the salaries of the Judges to $2,500 per annum.

DON'T SEE IT.—We hear many agonizing and expressing fears that a climax of knavery is about to take place, that the representatives of the people in high places are growing or have already grown more corrupt than formerly, and there is danger of the people becoming the absolute slaves of their officers. This is the same old cry that has been uttered every four years since the United States became a government and in fact since governments have been established among men. Being of Whig extraction we very well remember that it was regarded almost certain destruction to the Republic to elect Jackson a second time, and a list of corruptions the most damning paraded against his administration by the "outs" or Whigs to prove the danger of again trusting him in the executive chair, but he was elected again and the country survived it. So it has been at each succeeding election, and was at each preceding one. Even Washington was accused of running the Government in the interest of a clique or ring, but like Jackson and Lincoln and Johnson and all those who succeeded him and were vilified during their lifetime and especially during their official terms, he received the grateful homage of all after his retirement and especially after his death.

The World is not growing worse, as many suppose, else since the first man that was born into the world, according to Bible history, slew the second, who was his brother, we should by this time have become such monsters as to eat each other and annihilate the race long ago.

Isaiah long before the Christian era declared in his day that "every one loveth gifts, and followeth after rewards." So that among the holy men of old there seemed to be sentiments very similar to those which actuate people to-day, and yet the world wags on.

Cases disposed of at the April term District Court in Maricopa County. J. P. Sweney & Co., vs W. B. Hollings & Co.; W. Wormser, vs William Cavanass; John Wofen, vs Sarah Wofen, divorce, granted; E. M. Revis, vs John Dimmerly; Jacob Straw, vs J. E. and Ruth W. Wharton; C. H. Gray, vs Lindley Orme; Martin Thompson, vs Charles Ayres; Wm. McCann, vs J. J. Gardner; Territory of Arizona, vs Louis Bachman, convicted of grand larceny; Territory of Arizona, vs Jesus Segs, convicted of assault; Territory of Arizona, vs Louis Davis, ditto; Territory of Arizona, vs John Doe, convicted of grand larceny.
